

Most Practical Paper Award

The Program Committee of the 19th International Symposium on Practical Aspects of Declarative Languages has granted the PADL 2017 Most Practical Paper Award to

Canonicalizing High-Level Constructs in Picat

Neng-Fa Zhou<sup>1</sup> and Jonathan Fruhman<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> CUNY Brooklyn College & Graduate Center

<sup>2</sup> Independent Researcher

As the publisher of the PADL 2017 Proceedings, Springer furnishes this prize with a financial reward of € 250.00 to be evenly distributed among the laureates.

Paris, France – January 2017